Notes and corrections

- 1 She Stoops to Conquer (showing at London's National Theatre) is not a Royal Shakespeare Company production (although Katherine Kelly did work for the RSC before moving to Weatherfield).
- 2 More accurately when told of her father's death the Queen was at Sagana Lodge, a farm about 20 miles from Treetops.
- 3 The lines given are from the second verse of the abridged version in current use. This verse is the third in the full (non-politically correct) version, whose second verse begins: "O Lord, our God, arise, Scatter her enemies...".
- 4 There is some uncertainty as to the 'inventor' of coronation chicken: it may have been created by Spry, by her business partner Rosemary Hume or both of them.
- 5 The Goldcrest is a permanent resident in Britain.
- 6 'Actinides' is an equally acceptable answer.
- 7 The words quoted in the question are from the second verse. The poem begins "Not a drum was heard, nor a funeral note, As his corpse to the rampart we hurried...".
- 8 The imitation fly used by anglers is based on the 'real' March Brown Mayfly, which would seem to be an equally acceptable answer.
- 9 Aeneas was the son of Anchises (and a second cousin of Priam).
