Notes

- 1. If the question had included the word 'European' then the answer is probably 100% correct, but in world history it's probably not, as explained here.
- 2. The Apocalypse (of John) is an equally-acceptable answer.
- 3. The formal title of the army unit to which the question refers was the 2nd (Royal North British) Dragoons; 'Scots Greys' was only a nickname. Only in 1877 was the name of the regiment changed to 2nd Dragoons (Royal Scots Greys). In 1921 they became the Royal Scots Greys (2nd Dragoons).
- 4. The year referred to is 1881, not 1841

(presumably this was an unchecked/uncorrected cut-and-paste from Q11).

- 5. When using a theme/connection question-setters should bear in mind that teams may answer by giving the surname only, so it's not a good idea to put most/all of the links in the forenames.
- 6. Goolagong is her maiden name; Cawley is her married name.
- 7. The correct name is Internet Movie Database.
- 8. Dougal Haston is also an acceptable answer the pair climbed Everest together
- The common and crested shelducks have red beaks. The ruddy, South African, Australian and paradise shelducks have black beaks and the Radjah shelduck has a white beak. Therefore 'black' and 'white' are also acceptable answers.
- 10. Yellow is the predominant colour of both balls, but they also contain white (e.g. the 'spot' on the 1 ball) and the numbers are printed in black.
- 11. 'Wiki' is defined in the on-line Hawaiian Dictionary as 'to hurry, hasten; quick, fast, swift' so any synonym of fast in the sense of motion would appear to be an acceptable answer.

The word 'fast' has many other meanings, e.g. 'to starve' or 'fixed', so an indication in the answer as to which use of fast was required may have assisted the QM".
